

We recently experienced some technical difficulties with QACSS that resulted in contractors and QA inspectors not being able to view reports or the inspection scheduling module. Without full visibility into the scheduling module, some inspection appointments may have been missed.

These issues have been resolved and QACSS should be fully functioning at this time.

If you experience any continued problems, please reach out to us at inspections@nyserda.ny.gov

Thank you for your patience as we worked through this.

NY Residential Existing Homes Team