Solar and energy efficiency for all

New York State is making clean, resilient, and affordable energy solutions available and designing new initiatives to positively impact the everyday lives of all New Yorkers.

High energy bills? Limited cash? Fixed income?

NYSERDA can help you improve the energy efficiency of your home or add solar to reduce your energy bills and make your home more comfortable.

Within your reach

Energy efficiency improvements such as insulation and solar electric systems pay off with lower energy bills, but may seem expensive to install. NYSERDA has several programs to help low- to moderate-income homeowners and renters in New York State with the costs of installing energy efficiency improvements.

- Low-income is defined as a total household income that is less than 60% of the State median income and that qualifies for HEAP.
- Moderate-income is defined as total household income that is less than 80% of the State median income, which varies by county.
